Comparing and Contrasting

Comparing and Contrasting helps you organize details and can help you understand and remember what you have read.

Comparing things means showing how things are alike, and contrasting means showing how things are different.

Math News:

We are continuing our unit on multiplication and division.

Students must be able to multiply 2-digit by 1-digit numbers, multiply multiples of 10, solve multiplication and division word problems, and explain multiplication and division patterns.

We will have a PBA on these concepts, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

We are beginning a unit on the multiplication the multiplication properties and rectilinear area. The five properties include the zero property, identity property, commutative property, associative property, and distributive property.

We will have a Summative Test on these concepts Wednesday, February 8, 2017.
